Through worship,

On September 8, 1952, the present Concordia Lutheran High School was opened for the first academic year with an enrollment of 500 students. In 1958 the school again underwent construction for additional class rooms. This school year, 1962-63, the students have seen the beginning of construction on the new Concordia Lutheran High School on the property adjoining Zollner Stadium. When this school is completed, we pray that the future students of Concordia will be as proud of their new school as were the students in 1952 and every year since. We also pray that, with the help of God, these future citizens will carry on the tradition of daily worship and Christian fellowship.

Dear Students:

During the school year 1962-1963 the good Lord under whose blessings we have been progressing has given you the manifold opportunities to mature in thinking and living. You should feel a deep sense of satisfaction for your many accomplishments.

From the learning experiences in and out of the classroom you have gained a deeper insight in meaningful Christian concepts and understandings of God and your fellowman.

Having grown in knowledge, wisdom and love you have also learned to assume greater responsibility in serving your church, your school, and your community.

It is our fondest hope and prayer that you not only remain faithful to divine principles but that you continue to grow into solid Christian manhood and womanhood.

Your friend

The Religion Department

Concordia offers four years of religion, which is a primary reason for the students to enroll. Each year a different aspect of religion is studied. Freshmen learn about the Old Testament, while sophomores study the New Testament. A background in church history is given to juniors, and the seniors take up the basic Christian doctrines and Christian living. The important knowledge gained in the religion classes will provide Concordia students with a goal and a direction for life.

With the help of Rev. Oldsen, students interpret the meaning of a Bible passage.

A memorable event was the installation of Mr. Parrish, Mr. Sievert, and Mr. Dockweiler.

When questions arise, Mr. Timm is always willing to help bewildered freshmen find the answers.

Rev. Oldsen assists a student in her assignment, while the rest of the class diligently studies.

The English Department

Smile, Mr. Ihssen, you're on Candid Camera!

Mrs. Knoblauch clears up the mysteries of the English language.

Mrs. K. refers students to her indispensable aid--the dictionary.

A puzzled frosh receives help from an authority on the English language

Senior English students absorb some of Mr. Jordan's literary knowledge.

The Foreign Language Department

Even Latin can be fun when someone makes an amusing translation.

Concordia offers a three-year course in Latin, directed by Mrs. S. Miller, and also a three-year course in German, taught by Mr. E. Falkenstern. These courses are offered with the hope that the students will take this opportunity to acquaint themselves with the language of our foreign neighbors. Living in an age of crisis, as we are at the present, it is good that our future citizens have some understanding of these foreign powers.

German II students wonder why EVERYONE doesn't speak plain, ale, simple English.

The class watches and takes notes as Mr. Falkenstern explains new material.

Mr. Falkenstern's better than a book when it comes to answering German questions.

The Science Department

"And I bagged this one two years ago in a daisy field," explains Mr. Meyer to B. Birkman and S. Trier.

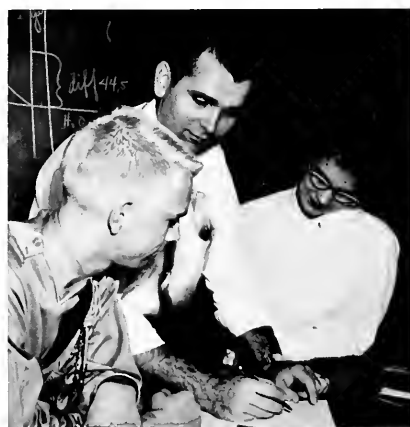

Please, Mr. Dockweiler, be CAREFUL with that NITROGLYCERIN!!

The science department at Concordia helps us to understand a little better the world we live in. We study the composition of material and the functions of our bodies. Most important, we attempt to answer scientifically the many questions which disturb all of us. Our science department makes us realize the power, beauty, and glory of God. We are able to understand more clearly His purpose in creation. The courses offered in the science department are as follows: biology, chemistry, advanced chemistry, physics, and physical geography.

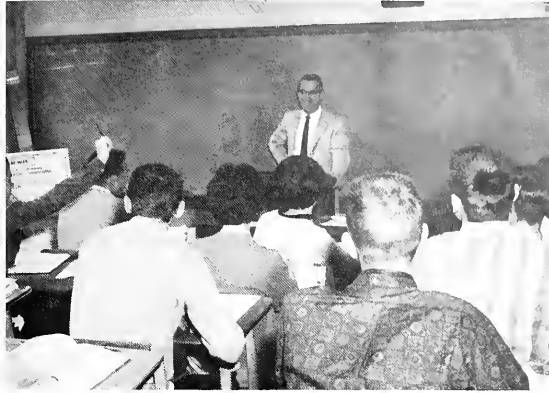

Professor Daw goes through the mathematical process of splitting an atom.

Mr. Dockweiler shows D. Dettmer and F. Lee how to do the problem.

The Social Studies Department

Social study courses offer information that will help the students understand our way of life, as well as the way other people live. Economics, civics, geography, history, and sociology provide Concordia's students with this important knowledge.

That must have been a tough question, Mr. Leiding—only ONE person knows the answer.

Mr. Baack's physical geography class learns more about the earth we live on.

Mr. Kach teaches his class something about football . . . I mean, American government.

Mr. Massucci provides his students with information about the history of the U.S.

The Military Department

Military boys enjoy having P. Grote as their instructor--for a change.

Through the disciplined instruction of Col. VanOosten, the cadets gain a respect for the principles of warfare.

Our flags are proudly displayed by members of the efficient Snap Squad.

Marching maneuvers are an important part of military training.

The Physical Education Department

No wonder they're such a wreck after phys. ed. class!!

If they hold him down long enough, they just MIGHT crush him!!

Our Phys. Ed. program, the girls under the direction of Mrs. A. Retrum, and the boys under Mr. W. Koch, and Mr. G. Parrish, helps to better acquaint our students with games, new and old. Participation in these sports helps the student to become more co-ordinated while at the same time allowing them to have a good time. All students will remember the fun of team competition and the thrill of winning.

Out on a dusty field in the early morning sun, phys ed. girls begin to regret the day they enrolled at Concordia.

It's just another John Glenn trying to prove that he can fly without wings!

D. McCollister will either be in orbit soon or land safely on the trampoline (if he's lucky).

The Business Department

This sure beats long addition, doesn't it Condyl?

Tell us Korol, are you REALLY working?

Sondyl smiles as the lost copy comes out

This department of Concordio, headed by Miss Ross, offers typing, shorthand, and business machines. Mr. Koch teaches bookkeeping, while Mr. Parrish teaches classes in business math and typing. Anyone graduating from this department will have no difficulty finding a responsible position in the business world. The training received through this department is also beneficial for students planning to enter college.

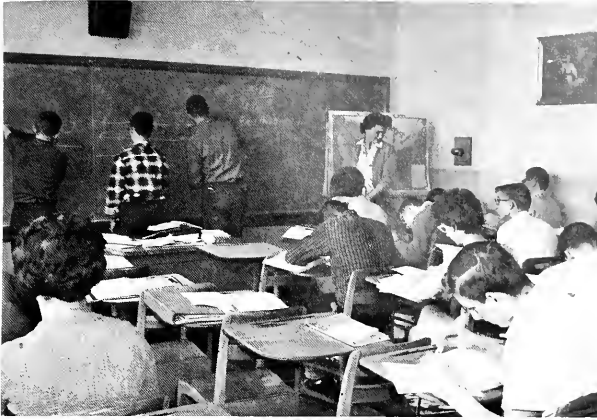

Uh-oh! Here she comes!

Pleose, Mr. Parrish, just o couple more seconds!

The Math Department

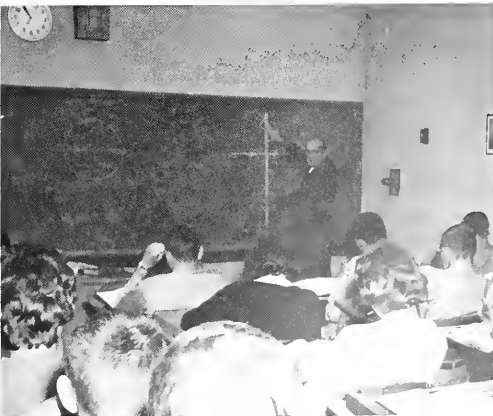

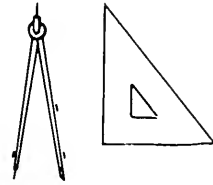

Three geometry scholars sketch a tough problem on the board.

Mr. Reinking does all the work while D. Leitz and S. Maki just stand there.

The mathematics department is headed by Mr. Reinking. This department is designed to help prepare those going on to college, and to provide a solid foundation for those whose math training ends with high school. The math courses offered are as follows: general math, Algebra I & II, geometry, trigonometry, and business math. All of these courses are drawn up to help develop in students the ability to use reason and logic in making decisions.

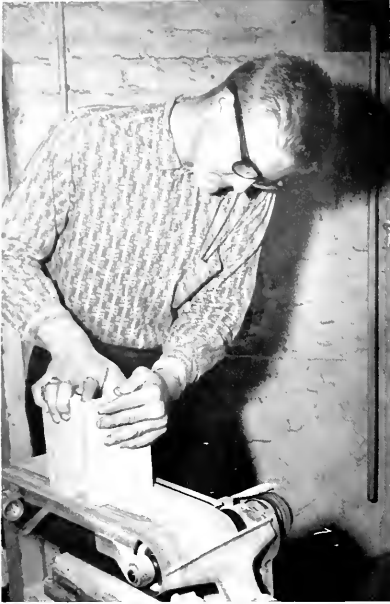

Students in plane geometry learn the fundamentals of construction through the supervision of Mr. Reinking.

What's so funny about algebra?

The Industrial Arts Department

D. Alfeld putters around in his favorite class.

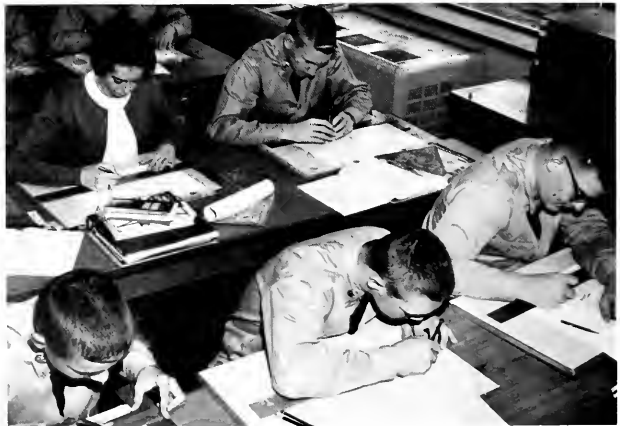

With strong hands, G. Straub operates a piece of delicate machinery.

This department, composed of shop and mechanical drawing, is dedicated to helping the students receive a sound understanding of industry. The students learn to express their ideas on paper, and how to operate different types of machinery. Mr. Harold Panning is the instructor of this department.

J. Bauer agrees that this sure beats building blocks.

Barb and the boys!

The Art Department

K. Runkel is surprised to see how B. Weimer has decked out her pot for Christmas.

Our art department, under the capable direction of Mr. John Sturmfels, aims at developing the natural artistic talent of the students and gives them new and different ideas. There are two separate courses of art: one concerns itself with the general art of today; the other, called art appreciation, develops the students knowledge of art as it was evolved from past civilizations.

B. Weimer serves as a model for art students who will ATTEMPT to draw her.

Thanks to Mr. Sturmfels and his capable art students, our halls were beautified for the holiday season.

A touch of the holidays is brought into Concordia as art students trim the tree.

The Home Economics Department

These students learn from Mrs. Roop how to become the efficient wives and mothers of tomorrow.

Home ec. girls discover the use of pots and pans in any good kitchen.

Will it explode? wonder M. Buehler, E. Korte, and C. Huth.

The Home Economics department offers a 3 year course to the girls of Concordia. The first year course consists of the preparation of appetizing and nutritious meals. The girls are also taught the fundamentals of sewing and complete between 2-3 projects. The second-year course includes advanced food preparation, advanced sewing, and room decorating. The third-year course is concerned with house-planning, decorating tips, home-nursing, and child care. These three courses are expertly taught by Mrs. L. Roop.

Mrs. Roop lets J. Borcharding, D. Butts, and A. Bear in on the secrets of becoming a good housewife.

The Library

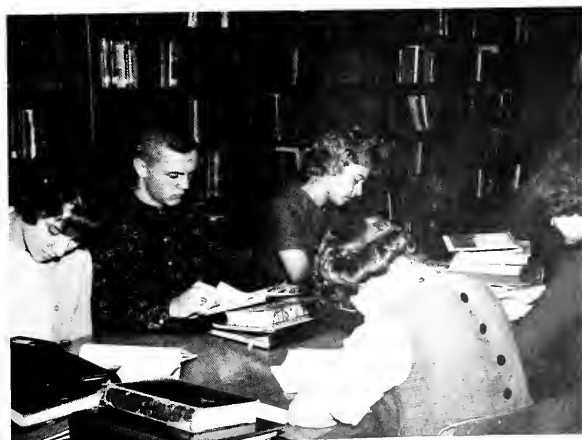

THIS is whot REALLY goes on in our library.

Knowledge is developed through the proper use of our library facilities, which have become increasingly important to the preparation of school assignments. Through the Book-of-the-Month Club many new volumes are added to our vast treasury of knowledge. The work of repairing books and ordering them is carried on with the assistance of capable students from various classes.

C. Korte and T. Zwick TRY to look inquisitive.

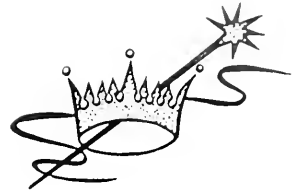

I'll bet they have a test next hour.

Con you imagine thot? Here's the onswer!

Acti

Concordia has various extra-curricular activities which include everything from the many clubs, to the after-game parties and the crowning of the queen. These activities give the student a chance to participate and associate with other Concordia students having the same interests.

One of the highest scholastic awards a Concordia student can receive is membership in the National Honor Society. Only those seniors in the top fifteen per cent of the class are eligible. Membership is conferred on the traditional "Tag Days" in October and February. The purpose of the organization is to encourage the scholastic and leadership abilities of the students. The annual banquet was held February 24, with Professor P. W. Harms as guest speaker. Mr. Leiding is the sponsor of the N. H. S., and the officers are as follows: J. Nahrwald, president; D. Schoenefeld, vice-president; and J. Dent, secretary-treasurer.

The Lu-Hi Voice

The Lu-Hi Voice, sponsored by Mr. Kurt Jordan, is the school newspaper publication. It is issued, on the average, once every three weeks or twelve times a year. The paper gives its staff members and reporters an insight on journalism by helping to develop creativity and writing ability. It provides the students with information of school activities and social events.

The Lettermen's Club

The Lettermen's Club consists of boys who have participated in one of the major or minor sports and have earned a letter in one of these areas. To help pay for the letter jackets, the boys do such things as holding car washes, paying dues, and selling concessions at home games. Coach Koch is the sponsor of the group and the officers are as follows: T. Dohrmann, pres.; D. Schoenefeld, vice-pres.; D. McCollister, sec'y-treasurer.

The Gamma Rho Delta

The officers of G.R.D. are (L-R) M. Gerken, sec'y; K. Kaeneman, vice-pres.; M. Droege, pres.; S. Wissman, treas.

The purpose of G.R.D., sponsored by Mr. Jordan, is to focus the attention of its members on the many facets of the English language. Every spring a banquet is held at which time new members are welcomed into the group. These members are chosen on the basis of their English ability and interest in the subject. The club meets once a month at the homes of different members and discusses topics dealing with the fine arts. It is also at these meetings that the members plan their yearly publication of the Gammatus.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Helen Knoblauch, this group of girls performs many projects throughout the year such as providing for needy families, conducting food and clothing drives, and giving contributions to the National Red Cross. The students give of their own time to help the Children's Home and the Old Peoples' Home. They are doing their best to help those who can't help themselves.

The Band

The band, under the direction of Mr. R. Sievert, has become of growing importance to our school. This past year the band performed at basketball and football games, several parades, school pep sessions, and at the traditional Valpo Homecoming. The members of the band entertained us with both their musical skills and their marching formations.

Clarinets and flutes join in our school song.

The Choir and Blazers

Future students enjoy the singing of the Blazers on Concordio Day.

The Blazers, which includes thirty members, is under the direction of Mr. Charles Henke and is composed of the male members of the A cappella choir. They are an entertainment group which sings both secular and religious music. Throughout the year the Blazers performed at dedications, on several television programs, at various service clubs, and on several other occasions.

Blazers entertain students at Concordio's annual Christmas celebration.

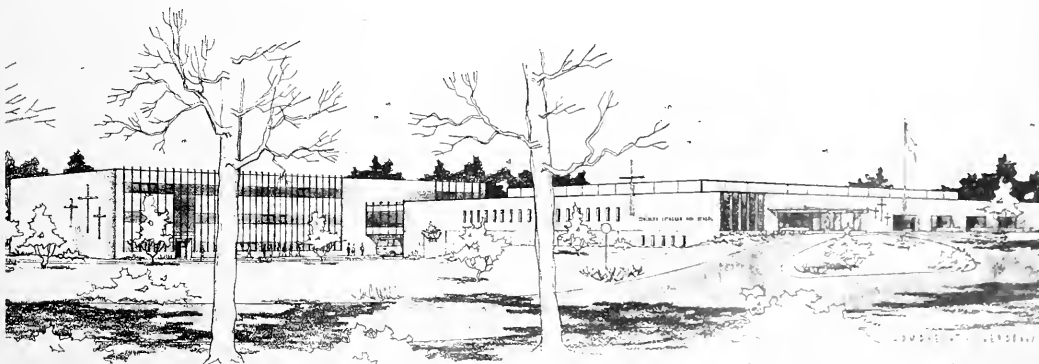

The Concordia choir, under the direction of Mr. Charles Henke, has as its main purpose the serving of God in our worship services. It also serves to enrich the students by giving them a knowledge of the heritage of church music and an understanding of the make-up of choral music. The choir is part of the educational process. Beyond serving the school community, the choir also performs for cultural and service organizations, such as the Downtown Kiwanis Club and the Lincoln Bank. This year our choir was larger than ever, with a membership of over eighty students.

The Future Concordia

The picture below has represented the dream of members and supporters of Concordia Lutheran High School for the last three years. That dream is presently becoming a reality. The school, being constructed on the eight-acre site across from Zollner Stadium by Hawk Construction Co. Inc., is planned to accommodate 1,000 students. The academic unit, a three story structure containing 30 classrooms and a library, should be completed by August 30. The two story accompanying activities unit--containing 10 specialized classrooms, a 2,300 spectator gymnasium, administrative offices, a cafeteria for 350 students, and an armory and range--is scheduled for partial use by November 1. By the end of 1963 Concordia's new home will be completed.

The Camera Club

Amateur photographers at Concordia find the Camera Club an interesting and informative organization. An important activity of the club, besides taking the pictures, is the developing of these pictures. The main purpose of the club, under the leadership of Mr. E. Falkenstern and Byron Pfeiffer, is to further the interest of photography in students belonging to the organization.

D. Schroeder, expert on the projectioner and its functions, carefully puts it away.

The Biology Club

Members of the Biology Club putter around in the chemistry lab.

The students belonging to the Biology Club are interested in studying the various types of plant and animal life which inhabit this earth of ours. Taking care of terrariums and aquariums, and microscopic investigations formulate some of the activities of the club. Mr. E. Meyer is the sponsor of this inquisitive club.

The Librarians' Club

H. Seemann and J. Dickmeyer put an end to the problem of studying by grinding up their books.

The Latin Club, under the supervision of Mrs. S. Miller, develops not only a better understanding of the language itself, but it also acquaints the members with the history of the ancient world. The club's members are encouraged to learn by constructing reproductions of the historically important buildings and structures of Rome. They learn the development of an empire by learning its language.

Members of the Librarians' Club are FRONT: D. Boester, J. Borcharding, B. Meyers, L. Reinking BACK: D. Gensel, J. Dickmeyer, J. Bovermeister, H. Seemann, T. Bergman, Mrs. Meyer.

The Girls' Athletic Association

The Girls' Athletic Association, under the supervision of Mrs. A. Retrum, is designed to increase an interest in athletics for Concordia's girls. The club helps the girls work together as a team, and offers many hours of fun and relaxation. The G.A.A. also helps develop fairness of play and sportsmanship. This past year the group had swimming, bowling, and ice-skating parties. By participation in these and other events, the girls accumulate points which will eventually entitle them to numerals and letters.

The officers of the G.A.A. are M. Droege, pres.; J. Albers, vice-pres.; L. Hartman, ass't vice-pres.; K. Schroeder, sec'y; S. Koehlinger, treas.; K. Gill, point recorder; Mrs. A. Retrum, faculty sponsor.

"The Marriage Machine" was the first of several plays put on by Concordia's Drama Club. The majority of the participants in the play are members of the club. In addition to the "Marriage Machine," the Drama Club also presented in February three one-act plays—"The Lottery," "Dreams under a Tree," and "The Gentleman Caller." The season was climaxed by the annual banquet at which time the "Roscoes," Concordia's answer to the "Oscars," were presented. The officers of the Drama Club are as follows: N. Weber, president; S. Lindemann, vice-president; J. Gugel, treasurer; and K. Koeneman, secretary. The faculty sponsor of the club is Mr. Sturmfels, who also directed the plays presented this past year.

The cheerleaders predict five busses to the Columbia City basketball game.

Lots of vim, vigor, and vitality were demonstrated by this year's cheerleaders. Many hours were spent in summer sessions and after school practices to co-ordinate actions and words which would make the students want to yell for their school. Besides making up cheers, the cheerleaders' jobs included chartering busses for out-of-town games, leading the pep sessions, and painting posters urging students to go out and support their team.

Sharon, Anita, Kathy, and Marilyn reach for victory.

The reserve twirlers are B. Gerke, D. Prochnow, P. Allen, L. McClure, C. Gillespie.

This club, composed of only the high ranking military officers, helps to promote more suitable training methods, as well as better and more efficient officers. This past year, the officers ushered at the Scottish Rite Auditorium and at our services in Concordia Church. Car washes were held by the officers to help raise money to finance such activities as their hayride and annual spring banquet. President of the club is Maj. Dettmer; vice-president, Capt. Koehlinger; and secretary-treasurer, Capt. Reck.

The Precision Drill Team

The Precision Drill Team under the command of Capt. Haugk assisted by Lt. Bergman, performs at various parades, the yearly Military Tournament, and Federal Inspection. Performing the basic rifle movements and the intricate marching procedures, this team well represents our school.

The Freshman Drill Team

Under the direction of Maj. Trier and Sgt. Maj. Mommer, this drill team helps to acquaint the new members of our military program to the fundamentals of precise movements and procedures which all go to make up our excellent battalion.

The Snap Squad and the Rifle Team

The Snap Squad, under the command of Maj. Dale Dettmer, is a branch of our military department. The Snap Squad's function is to perform at basketball and football games, and to participate in parades and exhibitions. Sophomore, junior, and senior boys may belong to the squad and in the fall they are selected from the best-drilled cadets by a board of officers.

These Cadets work together to learn the basic functions of the rifle and to condition themselves for competition. They learn the various positions for firing a rifle, and they work until they are adept at hitting the object at which they are firing. The rifle team is commanded by Lt. Tom Hunt assisted by Lt. Bill Meyer.

The members of the reserve football team fought hard with the hope that maybe next year they will be chosen for the varsity squad. Under the capable coaching of Mr. Glen Parrish, the boys gained the important experience that will undoubtedly help them in their football futures.

The freshman football team composed of the cream of our freshman crop, was coached by Mr. Jack Masucci. This team could be called "basic training" for future varsity players. They learned the importance of teamwork, fight, and spirit, the team completed their season with a very promising record.

The Reserve Basketball Team

Stan Lenz is the manager of the reserve basketball team.

The members of the reserve team are (L-R) FRONT: D. Schroeder, J. Claycomb, D. Pressler, T. Steinhauser, D. Carpenter. BACK: M. Roemer, M. Weiss, H. Edenfield, B. Peters, S. Wissman.

The boys on the reserve basketball team have worked unduly hard this year, as can be seen in their outstanding performances given before the varsity games. The team, coached by Mr. Massucci, had a good record with several wins and some very close games. The attendance at this year's games has been very gratifying and may account for the fine showings. Coach Massucci has done a highly satisfying job in preparing material for future varsity squads.

Coach Leiding "drilled" the freshman team to utilize basic plays, and he also stressed the importance of accurate shooting ability. The fifteen freshmen boys combined basic offensive and defensive maneuvers in learning to co-ordinate as a team. The team proved its ability to compete with tough competition, and therefore several of the boys will be found on future reserve and varsity squads.

The Freshman Basketball Team

Holiday Tournament...

Two proud coaches--Mr. Leidig and Mr. Parrish.

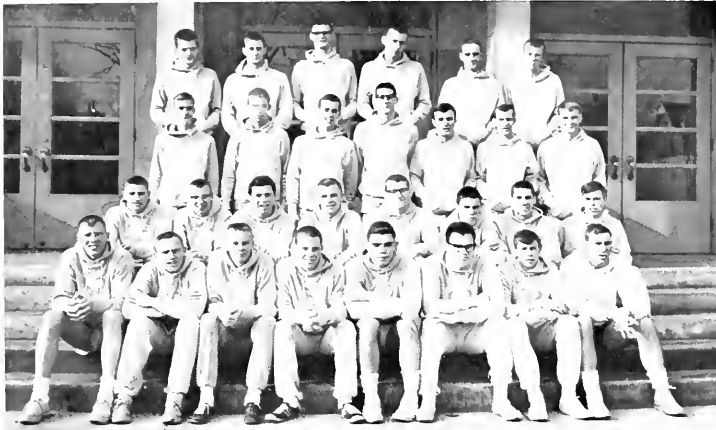

The managers of the varsity basketball team are (L-R) P. Herrmann, B. Burhop, and M. Weber.

Our varsity basketball squad worked extremely hard this year and their efforts were well rewarded. They finished in second place in the city, and in third place in the conference. They had an overall record of 15-5 during the regular season and a 19-5 record including the Sectionals. During the season they also won the Irish Invitational. In the final test they came through like champions to take the sectional crown. Tom Baack, city scoring champion, and Dave Widenhafer were chosen for the all-city squad. Tom Baack was also chosen for the the first string of the conference, while Dave Widenhafer and Dave Stauffer were chosen for the second string. Our victory team was coached by Concordia's new coach, Glenn Parrish.

Track and Cross Country

Above are pictured the varsity members of the track team.

Track, Concordia's third major sport, includes dashes, hurdle races, and long distance runs. The sport also consists of such field events as high jumping, broad jumping, pole vaulting, and shot putting. The participants in track begin rigorous training early in the year, with the distance runners beginning training as early as January. The training consists of many long hours in practice after school with sometimes calisthenics in the morning. The track team is under the capable coaching of Mr. W. Koch.

They act like they're running from girls!!

Don't just stand there--you're on the track team, aren't you?

The cross country team runs a two-mile course in one of our city parks each meet. This sport is a test of strength because the course follows an unequal pattern over hills; across bridges; and, in many cases, over rough terrain. Cross country is a sport that requires long hours of practice. The boys do not have to be exceptionally fast runners, but they must be strong, willing, and have endurance. The team, under Coach Reinking, placed third in the conference and sixth in the sectional meet.

Practice makes perfect!

Baseball, Tennis, and Golf

"Strike three--you're out!" This is a sentence we are all familiar with. As spring approaches, one of the sports that becomes active is baseball. Baseball, headed by Coach Massucci, has aptly been ranked among America's most thrilling sports. Members of our own Concordia baseball team, while providing spectators with much excitement, receive a sense of competition and attain good sportsmanship through active participation in this lively sport.

Hooray for our side!!

It's going . . .

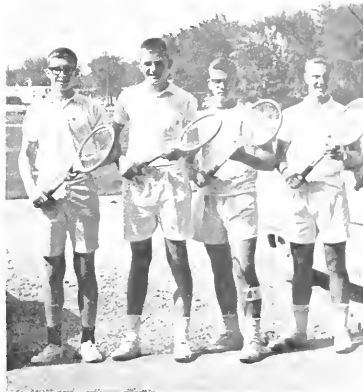

to be . . .

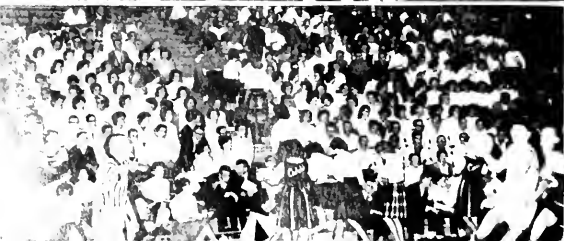

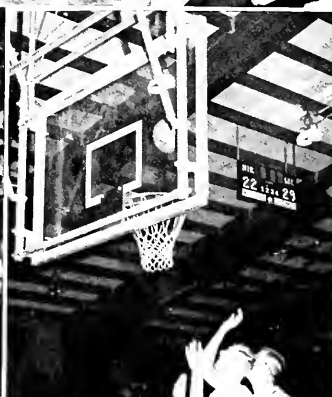

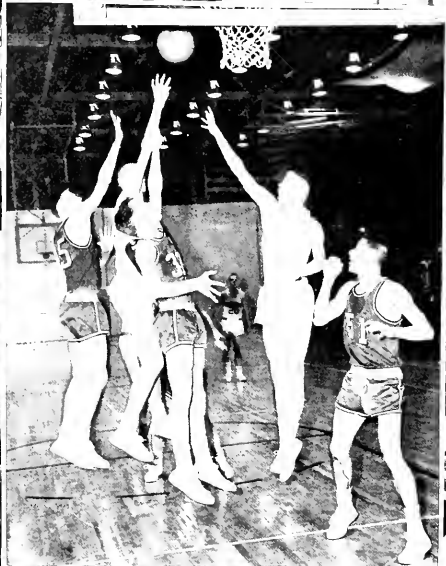

a homerun!!

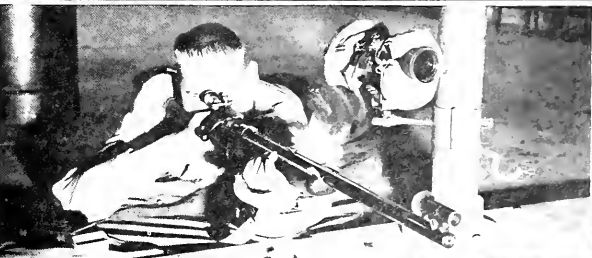

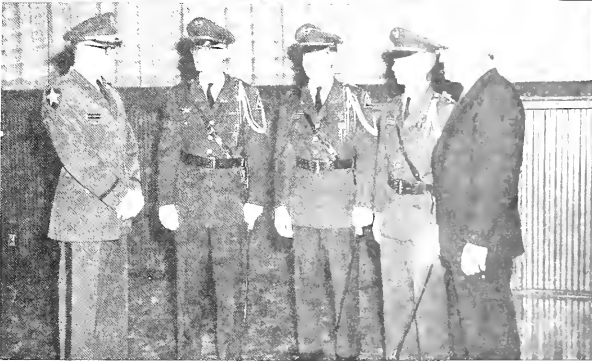

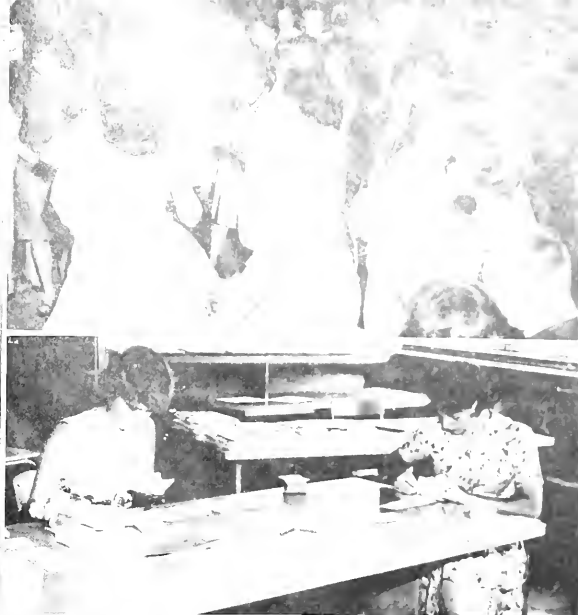

Tennis is one of the many spring sports that have long been favorites here at Concordia. Coached by Mr. D. Reinking, the team has won the city title several times. The team begins practicing early in the spring to get in top shape for tough opponents. The team set some fine records and we're looking for more of the same in the future.

B. Burhop, K. Kruse, B. Russell, and D. Widenhofer were some of the returning varsity men on our tennis team.

Golf, headed by Mr. Daniel, provides students with the opportunity to compete with other teams when the major sports have completed their seasons. Although it is not as rigorous as other sports, it still has its thrills and excitement. The teeing off, putting on the green, or getting a "birdie" will bring tension into the air when the score is close.

Seniors

Mr. Werner receives a copy of "Busimatic" from C. Frede while the rest of the secretarial class looks on.

Coach Kach congratulates senior football lettermen D. Schoenefeld, who was co-captain of the team; T. Dahrman, who was voted Most Valuable Player; and S. Schaenherr, who was also co-captain.

Sad, yet happy day as senior boys register at C. L. H. S. for the last time.

Happy moment for C. Korte as she is "tagged" for N. H. S. by M. Schwehn and S. Lindemann.

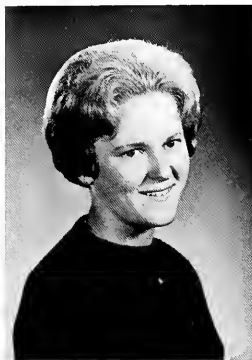

Pretty courtier M. Roemke and escort N. Weber enjoy themselves at Crystal Caranation dance.

The Seniors

Four years full of unforgettable memories. . . your "white" elephant" Christmas party. . . three beautiful contributions to the Crystal Coronation. . . "I got accepted!!!" . . N. H. S. tag days . . . "Will we get the yearbook on time?" . . college or job? . . "And to think I was once a freshman!" . . fun-filled skip day . . the Senior Banquet. . . and finally graduation, with a glance back at the solid Christian background Concordia has given us, and a glance to the future when we will make use of this Christian training.

The Sophomores

Two down--two to go... "It's hard to believe I was ever a freshman"... real gone class parties... clever pep session skits... not who, whom... those class dues work a hardship on the wallet... choosing a class ring committee... avid fans at the games... if angle EFG equals angle ABC, then... two more years of fun and work to look forward to.

The sophomore class officers are Chuck Schroeder, treasurer; Cindy Dixon, secretary; Steve Kott, vice-president; Larry Nord, president.

"Behind the Scenes"

Mrs. Masenthin wishes for an adding machine as she goes over the school accounts.

There are two women at Concordia whose faces are familiar to all of us: Mrs. Roemke and Mrs. Masenthin. Officially Mrs. Roemke is secretary to Mr. Birkman and bookkeeper of the activities account, while Mrs. Masenthin is the school bookkeeper. They perform many other favors for the students, such as giving change and selling tickets to the games.

The custodians of Concordia are responsible for keeping the school in top condition. They keep the halls and classrooms in order, help with jammed lockers, and do many other tasks. Mr. Stein is the daytime custodian and Mr. Bender serves as custodian at night.

During Concordia's "muddy ordeal" Mr. Stein and Mr. Bender were kept quite busy.

Mrs. Roemke does some homework assigned to her by Mr. Birkman.

Mr. Bender and Mr. Stein take a broom break

Concordia began the Sectionals by downing a scrappy Arcola team 67-57 to advance and meet Leo, who had some good sharp-shooters but not too much height and fell to the Cadets 68-54. Then the Cadets went to the semi-finals and met a strong foe, that of Central Catholic. After a bitter struggle, the Cadets pulled out the victory going away in the last minute. In the final, Concordia met North Side for the third time, after beating them twice in the regular season, and fought an uphill battle to win and become the first parochial school to win the Fort Wayne Sectionals.
